

Pet Sitting Service Requirements:

When interviewing a local pet sitting service on what they needed to run the business more efficiently (database wise) they said they just used a master excel file to hold all pertinent information. From what they told me they used it to store client information, including all relevant information on their pets that they were wanting the service for, payment/booking information including the amount of time the sitter would be caring for their pets, and of course the sitter information/employee information. To sum up, for a pet sitting service you'd need, pet owner info, pet info, booking info, employee info, and payment info. These are to be the entities.
